Grindrod Bank recently hosted a graduation ceremony at its Kingsmead premises for employees who completed their National Certificate in Banking NQF Level 5 learnerships. Six of the 12 graduates were trained by Felix Risk Training Consultants over a 12 month period, from October 2015 to October 2016.

The National Certificate in Banking NQF Level 5 comprises both theoretical and on-the-job training, to equip graduates with skills needed to gain the expertise and competence they require for their career development.

“Despite the sacrifices, the dream of achieving this qualification remained active. The learners showed a combination of skills, perseverance, luck, hard work and sacrifice necessary to achieve this goal, which resulted in finding their jobs more satisfying,” said Bernadette Felix of FRTC.

“The learners beamed with self-fulfilment and realised that their hard work was worthwhile. They now prepare for the next phase of their lives,” she added.
